

FACULTY OF LAW AND ADMINISTRATIVE SCIENCES

DEAN,

Assoc. Prof. PhD. Camelia IGNĂTESCU

decan@fdsa.usv.ro

Tel: 0040744700552

ERASMUS COORDINATOR,

Assoc. Prof. PhD. Liana PASCARIU

liana.pascariu@fdsa.usv.ro

Tel: 0040756793955

Study Programme: Law

Level: Undergraduate

Class Code	Subject	Semester/Year of Study	ECTS	Description
DF0101	General Theory Of Law	I/1	6	The purpose of the discipline is to give a general picture of law correlated with another social phenomenon - the state.
DS0102	State And Constitutional Elements	I/1	6	Acquiring and capitalizing on the basic concepts, categories and notions of constitutional law - the general part.
DF0103	Roman Law	I/1	6	The acquisition of knowledge (a set of facts, principles, theories and practice) in the field of Roman law; Building abilities (ability to apply and use knowledge) to solve concrete situations.
DF0104	Administrative Law	I/1	5	Acquiring and capitalizing on the basic concepts, categories and notions of the administrative law. Familiarization of students with some of the main institutions of administrative law, namely: introductory part (basic notions, definition, object and features, sources, norms and relations of administrative law); organization of public administration.

DC0105	Foreign language (English, French)	I/1	2	Defining the concepts and their analysis, as well as the methods and theories used in interpreting and comparing institutions in national law, European law and the law of other states the correlation and comparison between the institutions of the national, European and other national law systems in a determined context, using the specific methods and techniques.
DC0106	Physical Education And Sport	I/1	3	The accumulation of some theoretical knowledge about sport and the practice of different types of sports.
DC0114	Legal Sociology	I/1	5	The objective of the course is to familiarize the students with the main scientific paradigms of the field, and with the particular terminology of the field. Students will have the ability to work with the main specialized concepts, and to develop original works based on the practical application of the theory and methodology specific to the field.
DF0207	Civil law. General. People	II/1	6	Knowledge, understanding and use of language-specific civil law for the purpose of proper communication and optimization of course and seminar activities. Understanding and using the tools of knowledge at the level of civil law and basing the basics.
DS0208	Theory of Public Function in Romania	II/1	6	Acquiring and capitalizing on basic concepts, categories and notions of administrative law.

				Familiarize students with some of the main institutions of administrative law, namely: public office and civil servant.
DF0209	History of Law and State	II/1	6	Identifying legal norms in the Romanian and European legal system and the main international legal instruments The study of the History of Romanian Law shows the relations between the juridical laws as manifestation of will and the objective laws of economic development, clearly contributing to the complex training of the students and ensuring them a developed level of culture regarding the evolution of state institutions over time, as well and the way in which the state authorities have exercised their duties specific to each of the historical stages.
DF02010	Constitutional right. Political institutions	II/1	5	Acquiring and capitalizing on the basic concepts, categories and notions of constitutional law - part of political institutions.
DC0211	Foreign language (English, French)	II/1	2	Familiarizing students with specialized language, along with improving grammar issues. The legal vocabulary is introduced in legal texts in the legal field, official letters, etc. Training of learners in practical activities specific to the field: dialogues on a given topic, elaboration of projects specific to the legal field and applicability in the English/French language seminar.
DC0212	Physical Education And Sport	II/1	3	The accumulation of some theoretical knowledge about sport and the practice of different types of sports.

DC0215	Psychology and Judicial Psychiatry	II/1	5	The study discipline proposes scientific documentation and research on the subject of risks to the human psyche that the employee is subjected to overworking and monotony of the activity, identifying solutions for their improvement as well as the economic and social development of the territorial administrative units.
DF0301	Civil law. Real Rights	I/2	6	Knowledge and understanding of the theories, principles and concepts specific to the discipline; The knowledge, understanding and correct application in practice of provisions of national normative acts in the field of real estate and real estate rights; Understanding the importance of complying with existing property laws.
DF0302	Criminal law. General Part I	I/2	5	Knowledge and understanding of basic principles of criminal law as a branch of law and science, principles of criminal law, criminal law, crime, unity and plurality of crimes; Acquiring the skills required to apply the law and legal doctrine to solving practical cases.
DS0303	Family Law	I/2	5	Developing students' understanding of the notions and basic principles covered by family law and fundamental institutions: marriage, kinship, filiation, child protection, etc.
DC0304	Financial Right	I/2	5	The study of the financial and disciplinary law of a juridical-economic nature is meant to concretize the specific institutions of this branch of law, providing students with ample possibilities to acquaint and acquire the notions regarding the regulation of the national public budget system, including the elaboration, application, execution, conclusion and control of the budget . Addressing the multitude of problems specific to this course will be in accordance with the guidelines for the implementation of the reform program and the financial and fiscal strategy based on the legislation in force.

DC0305	Foreign language (English, French)	I/2	2	Familiarization with the legal, economic and European bilingual public administration and law.
DC0306	Physical Education And Sport	I/2	1	The accumulation of some theoretical knowledge about sport and the practice of different types of sports.
DS0312	The Environment Law	I/2	6	Understanding the basic notions of the environment and environmental protection.
DF0407	Civil law. Obligations	II/2	6	Treating the theoretical notions absolutely necessary to understand the legal institutions related to the discipline of the obligations. Highlighting the importance, role and functions of general theories of obligations. Student initiation in relation to basic principles and fundamental law institutions of civil law is subject to obligations: the contract, the static of the obligations, the dynamics of the obligations and the guarantee of the obligations.
DF0408	Criminal law. General Part II	II/2	5	Knowledge and understanding of some basic institutions of criminal law related to the justifiable and non-imputability causes, criminal participation, criminal liability and the causes that remove it, penal sanctions such as penalties, safety measures, individualisation of punishments and individualization means punishments, criminal liability of the legal person, causes that remove or modify the execution of the punishment

DC0409	Criminology	II/2	6	The student should be able to explain the entire subject matter of the course as well as to interpret technically and practically, with strict reference to the observance of criminal procedural provisions, aspects and circumstances regarding the conduct of various criminal investigation activities.
DS0410	International Public Law	II/2	6	Knowledge of the main international instruments, the way in which states engage internationally.
DC0411	Physical Education And Sport	II/2	1	The accumulation of some theoretical knowledge about sport and the practice of different types of sports.
DS0414	Diplomatic and consular rights	II/2	6	This course aims at familiarizing students with the specificity of diplomatic and consular law by analyzing the legal norms, the principles of the diplomatic and consular activity. Collaboration between states also takes on the form of diplomatic and consular relations, each with common and own features at the same time.
DF0501	Civil law. Contracts	I/3	5	Understanding the correlation between different parts of civil law Acquiring the basic notions of the matter of special contracts

				Creating and developing students' abilities to connect with the different concepts studied at the Civil Law discipline. Obligations .
DF0502	Criminal law. Special Part I	I/3	5	Learning by the students of the content of crimes against the person, offenses against the patrimony, crimes of state authority and state border, crimes against justice to capitalize on the acquired knowledge and training the necessary capacities for the training of future specialists in the field.
DS0503	European Union Law	I/3	5	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with the main legal entities of the European Union and with the particular terminology of the field. Students will have the ability to operate with the main specialized concepts, and to develop original works starting from the practical application of domain-specific theory.
DS0504	The Right of Intellectual Property	I/3	5	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with the main legal institutions in the field of intellectual property and with the particular terminology of the field. Students will have the ability to operate with the main specialized concepts, and to develop original works starting from the practical application of domain-specific theory.
DC0505	Physical Education And Sport	I/3	1	The accumulation of some theoretical knowledge about sport and the practice of different types of sports.
DC0511	Human resources management in public institutions	I/3	4	The general objective of the discipline is given by the requirements of the practice and consists in the research of the theory about the forecasting, organization,

				coordination, motivation, evaluation and control of the human resources of the public institutions with legal specificity; Defining basic concepts: human resource management, recruitment and selection of human resources, assessment, career management and motivation of human resources in public institutions with legal certainty.
DS0512	European Business Law	I/3	5	Knowledge, understanding and use of the specific language of european business law. The ability to explain and interpret processes, phenomena, theories / ideas and tendencies circumscribed to the field of study.
DF0606	Civil law. Successions	II/3	5	It looks at the appearance of the main inheritance law institutions, insisting on the one hand, on their specific legal figure, and on the other on the links of this matter and other matters of civil law. An important place in the expositions is the presentation of practical solutions judiciary in the field, emphasizing the contribution of courts to the clarification of some aspects controversial.
DF0607	Criminal Law.Special part. II	II/3	5	Students acquire the content of corruption and service crimes, fake offenses, public security crimes, crimes that affect social cohabitation, electoral crimes, crimes against national security, crimes against the fighting force of the armed forces, crimes genocide, anti-humanity, and war to capitalize on the acquired knowledge and to build the necessary capacities for the training of future specialists in the field: magistrates, lawyers, notaries, etc.

DS0608	Right of Labor and Social Security	II/3	5	The main objectives of the course can be systematized as follows: —Installation of the rules of work and employment; — Presentation of the categories of labor contracts: collective labor contracts and individual labor contract; Knowledge of future payroll legislation and applicable sanctions by future employers or employees.
DC0609	International human rights Protection	II/3	5	Knowledge of the main international mechanisms for the protection of human rights.
DS0615	Deconcedure and Administrative Decentralization	II/3	5	The general objective of the discipline is the research of the theory on the application of the principles of decentralization and deconcentration in the public administration in Romania and other European states.
DS0616	Comparative Law and Right Systems	II/3	5	The course aims to acquaint students with fumigal notions about major legal systems, as well as familiarizing themselves with the methodology of comparative law.
DS0701	Civil Procedure Law I	I/4	5	Knowledge and understanding of the organization and functioning of the fundamental institutions of civil procedural law. Acquiring the skills required to apply legislation and doctrine to solving practical cases.
DS0702	Criminal Procedural Law I	I/4	5	The subject of the study is the issue of the activity carried out by certain state bodies, which ensures the application of the criminal law to those who have committed crimes. In the first part of the course, the main legal bodies of the General Party will be summarized: Competence, Evidence and Evidence, Procedural and Procedural Proceedings, and Special Rules on Criminal Investigation and Judgment.

DS0703	Commercial Law	I/4	6	Treating the theoretical notions absolutely necessary to understand the legal institutions related to the discipline as commercial. Highlighting the importance, role and functions of commercial law. Student initiation in connection with the basic principles and legal framework of the business of the companies, as well as with the legal relationships in which they participate Knowledge of the main subjects involved in the commercial law relations.
DS0704	Judicial Clinic and Medical Law	I/4	6	It is intended to provide students with the most suggestive and attractive experience of basic knowledge in the field of judicial clinics and medical law, to bring a genuine plus of knowledge, to facilitate the understanding of the issues at a higher level, and to be relevant to the professionalization of law activities and, ultimately, to contribute to the formation or change of capacities, habits, mentalities and behaviors.
DS0713	Organization of justice	I/4	4	Undertaking the notions regarding the organization of legal professions in Romania and knowledge of the regulations applicable to the organization of the judiciary.
DS0805	Civil Procedure Law II	II/4	5	Knowledge and understanding of the organization and functioning of the fundamental institutions of civil procedural law.

DS0806	Criminal Procedural Law II	II/4	4	The subject of the study is the issue of the activity carried out by certain state bodies, which ensures the application of the criminal law to those who have committed crimes. In the first part of the course, the main legal bodies of the General Party will be summarized: Competence, Evidence and Evidence, Procedural and Procedural Proceedings, and Special Rules on Criminal Investigation and Judgment.
DS0807	International Private Law	II/4	5	Acquiring and capitalizing on concepts and institutions specific to private international law The explanation and description of the fundamental principles, rules of private international law, as well as the mechanism for their application; Correlation of domestic legislation with other countries' legislation and international treaties and conventions with a view to an integrative vision on the regulation of private international law relations.
DS0808	The Right of International Trade	II/4	4	Understanding the general and specific principles of the international trade contract.
DS0809	Forensic Medicine			It is intended to provide students with the most suggestive and attractive way of basic knowledge in the field of psychiatry and legal medicine that will bring an authentic plus of knowledge, to facilitate the understanding of the issues at a higher level and to have relevance to professionalize the activities in the field of forensic psychiatry.

DS0810	Forensics	II/4	5	The student must acquire knowledge in the fields of Criminology, in close connection with those in the sphere of other judicial sciences (Legal Medicine, Judicial Psychology, Judicial Psychiatry and others) and Legal (Criminal Law, Criminal Procedural Law and Criminology) so as to be able to understand the importance and the role of specific methods, means, techniques and tactics in investigating different types of offenses, proving them, identifying perpetrators.
DS0714	The European Competition Right	II/4	4	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with the main legal institutions of the European Union in the field of competition and with the particular terminology of the field. Students will have the ability to operate with the main specialized concepts, and to develop original works starting from the practical application of the theory specific to the competitive field.

Study Programme: European Law

Level: Master

Class Code	Subject	Semester/Year of Study	ECTS	Description
-------------------	----------------	-------------------------------	-------------	--------------------

DAP0101	European Administrative Law	I/1	5	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with the main legal institutions of the European Union and with the particular terminology of the field. Students will have the ability to operate with the main specialized concepts, and to develop original works starting from the practical application of domain-specific theory.
DAP0102	European Financial Law	I/1	5	At European level, a specific regulatory framework has been developed, which specifies the way in which the relations between states are developed in relation to the establishment, management and control of the Union's own patrimony. The evolution of this system of regulations is analyzed in the study discipline, arguing the emergence of a new branch of law that is constantly evolving: European financial law.
DAP0103	The Construction of the European Union	I/1	5	The general objective of the discipline is given by the requirements of practice and research into the theory of the European Union.
DAP0104	European Standards in legal medicine	I/1	5	Familiarizing students with notions, phenomena, processes specific to the studied field to ensure the knowledge, understanding and deepening of the legislation governing the organization and functioning of the forensic institutions, their specific activity.
DAP0105	Management strategic în sectorul public	I/1	5	Training professionals with skills, skills, skills to manage their own work and organizationally strategically.
DSI0106	European protection of human rights	I/1	5	Deepen knowledge of human rights in Europe Deepen and update information on the evolution of the ECHR jurisprudence

DSI0207	Managing Labor Relations in a European Context	II/1	7	Knowledge of the evolution of labor relations and industrial relations in Europe, knowledge of legislation in this field, policies of European governments in relation to work relations, strategies and styles of working relations in European enterprises.
DAP0208	Citizenship in European Law	II/1	5	Knowing, understanding and using the specific language of European law in the purpose of communicating appropriately and optimizing course and seminar activities. The ability to explain and interpret processes, phenomena, states, theories / ideas and trends circumscribed to the field of study;
DAP0209	European Public Services Management	II/1	7	The comparative analysis between the overall reform of public services in Romania and in the European Union, reflecting on how the applied policies can lead to the development and implementation of public service reforms, having repercussions on the success or failure of the reform process.
DSI0213	The Contentieux of European Union	II/1	6	The objective of the course is to familiarize students with the jurisdictional functions and procedures of the European Union and with the particular terminology of the field. Students will have the ability to operate with the main specialized concepts, and to develop original works starting from the practical application of domain-specific theory.
DSI0210	European Economy	II/1	5	Familiarize students with the notions, phenomena, processes specific to the European economy.

				Presentation of the conceptual framework of the European economy system.
DSI0301	The Abuse of Right in The European Union	I/2	5	Student knowledge and understanding of the specificities of the abuse of law in the European Union Understanding and understanding by students of the importance and role of sanctioning abuse of rights in the European Union Forming a legal logic by understanding and mastering the notions, concepts and institutions presented.
DAP0302	Career management	I/2	4	Mastering students' orientation to develop a harmonious career in the field of European law; Deepening and applying the knowledge / skills acquired in career management in the field of career management.
DSI0303	Social statistics in law	I/2	4	As a method or research tool, statistics are mainly concerned centralizing, grouping, synthesizing and analyzing data from empirical research in law, as well as the presentation of the results.
DAP0304	Regional Development Policies and Strategies	I/2	4	An attribute of the region is the regional consciousness of a common regional interest, this making possible joint efforts to improve welfare at the level of the area concerned. Common interests can be reflected in different ways, but the basic idea is represented by the high degree of correlation of the economic experience of those areas forms the region as well as the interest groups in each sub-area.
DSI0305	European Commercial Law	I/2	5	The course study the european trade lawthat has begun in terms of historical development with a phase of harmonization of national business law solutions.

DSI0309 DSI0310	English/French for International Relations	I/2	4	Acquiring the legal and economic vocabulary proper to diplomatic and international relations - the ability to express themselves orally in a formal context (debate, pleading, etc.) - developing a style adapted to the drafting of reports, notes, minutes, etc. - Ability to understand through compliance with the rules and rules of phonology and phonology corresponding to French/English.
DAP0311	Psychiatric risks in the legal career	I/2	4	Familiarizing students with notions, phenomena, processes specific to the studied field. Ensuring understanding, understanding and deepening of legislation which regulates the organization and operation of the psychiatry, their specific activity.
DSI0406	Methodology of Legal Research	II/2	4	The course contributes to the formation of the scientific investigation skills of legal phenomena and the adoption of the model of learning by thinking. Students will be able to operate with the main legal research methods and techniques, build hypotheses and hypothetical models, design methodologies for their testing.