Those who do not have an English language proficiency certificate, they will be required to take an online English language proficiency test (you will be contacted through email by our university).

Those who apply for study programs related to foreign languages, such as French Language and Literature and German Language and Literature, will also send us an internationally recognized language proficiency certificate for the respective languages (minimum B1 level).

Most of our study programs are taught in the Romanian language, so, the candidates have two possibilities:

1. to prove that they are proficient in the Romanian language by submitting a Romanian Language Proficiency Certificate or passing a Romanian language proficiency test;
2. to apply for the Preparatory Year of Romanian Language and Civilization available for foreign students at the Faculty of Letters and Communication Sciences. This means that they will study the Romanian language for an entire academic year for their bachelor's studies, and 6 months for master's, postgraduate, and Ph.D. studies. If the candidate wants to attend this course, they must check the YES option on the Application Form (second page, Section II Studies Applied in Romania).

Registration steps:

You will receive a confirmation email after you have uploaded your application file.

After we have processed your application file and you have passed the language tests and the admission exams, if it is the case, we will send your file to the Romanian Ministry of Education for them to issue the Letter of Acceptance or reject the file, as applicable. We do not process incomplete application files.

After we notify you that the Ministry of Education has issued the letter of approval to studies, you must pay the study fee for 10 months, in advance.

The study fee paid for the preparatory year (or the first year, for those who do not follow the preparatory year) is not refunded to the admitted candidate.

As an exception, if the visa application is rejected, the tuition fee is partially refundable. In this case, 300 euros from the study fee will be retained by the USV, representing the coverage of expenses arising from bank commissions and the bearing of administrative expenses.

The proof of payment of the tuition fee for one year must be sent to us by email, at intrel@usm.ro

Payment must be done to the following link:

<https://euro.taxeusv.ro/>

The payment document must include the purpose of the payment (study/tuition fee) and the candidate's name and surname.

Once you receive the Letters of acceptance, you may apply for a type D/SD visa.

You can apply for a visa online at the website below

<https://evisa.mae.ro/?lang=en-US#>

The tuition fees are:

Field of study	Bachelor, master and residency studies (euro/month)	Postgraduate and PhD studies (euro/month)
Technical, agronomic, science and sports	270	290
Social sciences, economic, preparatory year	220	240
Medicine	320	340

Enrolment Conditions:

If previous studies were not completed in Romania, a European Union country, or in accordance with the legal assistance agreements signed between Romania and third countries, those who have obtained the Letter of Acceptance issued by the Ministry of Education must come in person and bring the documents from the Application file, in original, certified for authentication by the Embassy of Romania in the issuer country, or endorsed with The Hague apostille.

The academic year starts around the 1st of October

Stefan cel Mare
University of Suceava

Office for International Relations and European Affairs

Accommodation

Because the institution has a limited number of accommodation places for international students, the sooner you arrive in Suceava, the more chances you will have to obtain accommodation. Accommodation costs around 150 euros per month.

Please note that the tuition fee does not include the cost of accommodation.
